ANIMAL CONTROL

- The Santa Clara-Ivins Animal Shelter is currently full. We have ten kennels and ten dogs. We still receive approximately five calls daily for owner surrenders. Currently, the Shelter is not taking any owner surrenders at this time, as nine of our ten dogs are available for adoption, and some have behavior issues.
- This month, we released the first microchip scanning station. We are very excited about its potential to help reduce the number of stray animals coming into the shelter. We have received positive feedback and other shelters and rescues have reached out for more information.
- Officer Peterson attended the annual UACOA state training this year where she learned valuable new skills and gathered information on improving our shelter operations.
